Peter Sallick celebrates

30 Years of Unyielding Vision

With our fifth issue of Waterworks Made, I'm reflecting on my own milestone—the excitement, privilege, and rewards of running Waterworks for the past 30 years! Looking back, I'm immensely proud of the evolution of our company—founded in 1978 by my parents, Barbara and Robert—and am equally excited about where it's going next. When I first started, we had just a handful of employees and a limitless potential that fueled our pursuit of creativity, inspiration and innovation principles that still guide us today.

Our focus on design, and the design community, is our driving force. From day one, we have painstakingly debated every millimeter and every radius, every floor plan and photo shoot. We go back to the drawing board—quite literally—time and time again, when we feel it's necessary. We engineer each element to the extreme, embracing new materials and demanding excellence in everything from our manufacturing to our client services.

Our determination to remain consistent in our efforts for three decades—through recession or pandemic, good times and challenging ones has enabled our company to soar. So many milestones stand out: the launch of our best selling proprietary Henry collection in 2010; our creative collaborations with design partners like

Roman and Williams and Gachot Studios; our role in incredible hospitality projects, from iconic five-star urban towers to gorgeous beach resorts and chic boutique hotels; our increasing global expansion, including the opening of our flagship London showroom nearly 10 years ago. A full list would fill this entire issue, and then some.

My biggest source of pride isn't one tangible element of our story: It's the dynamic creative energy and strength of our culture that powers Waterworks. We're a design-driven company with a passion for pushing boundaries, leading by example, willing to take risks, and elevating the most important spaces of the home. This issue of Waterworks Made presents just a few examples, including our Regulator collection, our custom cabinetry offerings, the breadth of our accessories, and our baths in some of the world's finest coastal resorts. Stay tuned for what's to come over the course of the year...big things are always on their way.

Regulator

Regulator pays homage to industrial controls of the early 1900s, a time when meticulous attention was devoted to every component. The collection conveys a robust and captivating elegance through intricate, commanding forms and doesn't confine itself to a single design style. Its rugged beauty and striking forms are equally comfortable in a city loft, a mountain retreat, or a coastal residence.

Rosewood Kona Village

Kailua-Kona, HI

Set on the sacred coast of Kahuwai Bay, this 81-acre property pays homage to the native Hawaiians who came before and was the recent recipient of the Gold Key Award for their suites, expertly designed by Nicole Hollis. Now sustainably renewed and elevated for 21st-century tastes (including with Waterworks minimalist Flyte fittings), it holds wonders for every generation.

Hospitality Baths on the COAST

When creating baths for coastal resorts, the most exceptional retreats choose Waterworks to create indelible looks that are easygoing, sophisticated, and a breath of fresh air. Here are a few of our favorites.

HOSPITALITY

Six Senses Kanuhura

The Maldives

Encompassing three private islands, this sublime, laid-back retreat is known for being home to the finest beaches in the Maldives. Throughout, bold, polished design choices—including Waterworks Ludlow fittings—instill a sense of bohemian elegance.

Four Seasons Los Cabos at Costa Palmas

Baja California Sur, Mexico

This one-of-a-kind tropical hideaway invites you to swim at a long, pristine sandy beach or set sail to explore what Jacques Cousteau called “the aquarium of the world.” Waterworks .25 fittings bring an exquisite modern touch to the guest baths.

The Wauwinet

Nantucket, MA

This resort blends historic charm and modern coastal elegance, with breathtaking views of the bay and Atlantic Ocean. Waterworks industrial-inspired Ludlow fittings add to the property’s timeless allure.

AREV St. Tropez

Saint-Tropez, France

Defined by old-school luxury, this elegant hotel aims to transport guests to a more glamorous time—and to make every visit bespoke and special. The colorful rooms are individually designed and lavish with unique touches, including Waterworks Dash fittings.

Custom Cabinetry for the Bath

Exclusive custom cabinetry offers the perfect blend of beauty, functionality, and craftsmanship—a showcase for superior materials and artistry. Our comprehensive project management encompasses all phases, from space planning and product selection to delivery and installation.

Moreover, our committed cabinetry consultants are accessible throughout the lifespan of your space, ensuring that each project is a genuine design partnership.
